

WHAT READERS SAY ABOUT 7 KEYS TO LOVE

"I started 7 Keys to Love last night and am truly awestruck! Your writings, concepts, and concrete steps are so needed in our world, our personal relationships, and ourselves. This book should become a 'classic' in the field."

~ Judith Alstadter

Concert pianist / educator;

Spirituality / healing / music workshop leader

"I have not finished reading 7 Keys to Love, however what I have read thus far has really hit home. I have learned so much just from reading the first few pages. I am reading it slowly for several reasons. Mainly because the information that you provide takes time to process. It makes so much sense that I feel I need to read it again to make sure that I have read it correctly. I feel as if it pertains to "just" me. I never thought about it in a "global" sense. I will continue to take my time in reading it. Please know that I am learning so much and enjoying your book. I will keep you posted on my progress. Thank you!"

~ Carolyn Miller, MA

Lecturer on Public Relations, Career Counselor
Five Towns College, Dix Hills, NY

"I have been reading 7 Keys to Love and I TOTALLY LOVE IT. It is a wonderful piece of work... so much in it that I have truly always thought about as far as what the heck is so unsatisfying with our society/culture. You have really given so much insight into many of these issues in this book. I specifically like is that you address issues of violence and communication; something I have always wondered about. Most of us are SO wounded, and it absolutely does lead to ultimately issues of violence and communication breakdown; why aren't we working in more effective ways to heal ourselves and our communities? I concluded long ago that most of society is in incredible denial and/or in 'addiction states', as you so clearly point out. Thanks so much for sharing the gift of your book with me. I will definitely be sharing it with others."

~ Camille Santoro

Vocalist / human services

"A new and magnificent author, Mr. Sanford Hinden... for the 21st Century. Sanford Hinden has authored his first work, which is destined to become a masterpiece, making history in the restoration of true, altruistic Love for Planet Earth, by teaching the world his 7 Keys to Love."

~ Pat Chandler

Global Communication Consultant

